Wednesday 1st November 2023, 3:30 – 5:00 p.m.

St. John's Primary and Nursery School, French Street, Old Town,
Southampton, SO14 2AU

Join us in this free event to:

- Discover through posters, short presentations, videos and a Q and A, how inclusion can be promoted in schools through engagement with pupils' voices.
- Find out how you can involve children and young people in schools, in order to address issues that may be of concern.
- Explore how existing learning and teaching practices can be developed through child-teacher dialogues.
- Hear from teachers who led the processes in the schools and from children who took the role of researchers.
- Receive relevant resources.

During this event you will have the opportunity to:

Explore the findings of a project, led by Professor Kiki Messiou, building on the findings of her international research.

The project involved five schools that each identified an area of focus that related to inclusion and agreed a plan of how they would explore this, using the pupil voice lens and participatory research approaches. In this way, solutions to the identified areas were addressed through active participation of children and teachers.
